Dedication
Mr. Bellefuille

If you're in trouble, you had better run. Mr. Bellefeuille is known to chase down students missing I.D.s or dressed inappropriately. In his school years, Mr. Bellefeuille developed his love of French via academic requirements to learn both French and Latin. He began teaching French at Chicopee High School in 1969 after attending Westfield State College, then transferred to Chicopee Comprehensive High School in1981. He has been offered department chairmanship several times, but has turned it down each time because he would rather teach. He often takes time in class to tell stories and give random facts to students. In fact, he could probably win Jeopardy if he were on the show. Mr. Bellefeuille keeps his family life private except for the love of his grandson, Samuel, to whom he plans to pass on his love of foreign languages. Mr. Bellefeuille has succeeded in teaching his students to leave his class with a love for the French language and culture.

We want to take this opportunity to thank Mr. Bellefeuille for all of the enthusiasm he has brought to foreign language classes throughout the years.

Right: Mr. Bellefeuille teaching in 1974 at Chicopee High School.

Right: Mr. Bellefeuille poses for his staff photo in 1987.

Dedication
Ms. Parzych

Ms. Parzych is one of the hardest working, most dedicated teachers in the building. She arrives at school around 6:30 every morning, claiming that "the early bird catches the worm." Ms. Parzych graduated in 1989 from Ludlow High School. She continued onto Assumption College, graduating in 1993. She began teaching Spanish at Leominster School in 1993. In 1995 she transferred here and has been teaching Spanish ever since. Ms. Parzych was offered the position of foreign language department chairperson in 2005 and has been working extremely hard to make the foreign language department what it is today.

Not only does Ms. Parzych arrive to school early in the morning, she also stays late nearly every day in order to help her students and staff in the foreign language department. Ms. Parzych is also the advisor to National Honor Society.

The class of 2010 would like to thank Ms. Parzych for her continued support of the Chicopee Comprehensive academic community.

Below: Ms. Parzych shakes her godson's hand.

Dedication
Mr. Sweeney

"Your I.D. Sir!" is a phrase that most students dread hearing. Accordingly, Mr. Sweeney is one of the most feared teachers in the entire building, but everyone who has had the chance to have him as a teacher knows he's very lovable, and not as scary as he sounds. Mr. Sweeney is the second oldest out of five boys. He went to high school here at Chicopee Comprehensive, and graduated in 1985. He then studied at the University of Massachusetts in Amherst, Holyoke Community College, Western New England College, and American International College. Mr. Sweeney started his teaching career at Central High School, but transferred to Chicopee Comprehensive and has been a chemistry teacher here ever since. He became the science department chairperson in 2006. Mr. Sweeney is one of the best chemistry teachers in the building. He always gives students the chance to succeed and makes sure that each student learns the material. Mr. Sweeney stays after school nearly every day for extra help and puts in extra hours organizing the science department so that teachers and students can utilize all of the brand new equipment.

We want to thank Mr. Sweeney for all of the hard work and dedication he has put in over the years.

A Special Thanks to Mrs. Bineau & Ms. Thayer

The class of 2010 would like to give a BIG thank you to our trusty advisors Ms. Thayer and Mrs. Bineau.

Ms. Thayer has been our fun-loving class advisor since Freshmen Year. She is always smiling, even when things are not going as planned. Ms. Thayer has such a perky personality and she accepts all ideas and works to see that they come through. Ms. Thayer is always willing to give students the benefit of the doubt and is extremely optimistic.

Mrs. Bineau hopped on board in the middle of our Junior Year. She was suddenlythrownintoorganizingprom and fundraisers. She quickly adapted and is always pitching great ideas like the Red Sox and Yankee driveway fundraiser, which turned out to be a lot more work than we expected. Mrs. Bineau always takes charge of ideas and sees that they are followed through. She always has some sort of funny comment to add to everything.

Both of you are amazing class advisors and we are blessed to have you both. Thank you for all of your hard work and dedication to us. And thank you for painting all of those driveways!

Freshman year was a crazy year for all of us. We were in the old building, experiencing the second floor intersection, the two cafeterias and the crazy artwork that littered the hallways. That building definitely had a great impact on our year. We went through the three-hour Code Gray wondering when we would get out. Comp won the Sword back from Chicopee High, and then won the Super Bowl at the end of the season.

"It's not easy being green" became the slogan on our Freshman Spirit Week shirts while Charlie Laboy ran for Mr. CCHS and lost to Atoa Ripley ('08). Joel McAuliffe ran for President for the first time and lost to Charlie Laboy.

We all remember our classes; everyone seemed to have Mr. Lamothe and Ms. Karol for Social Studies, and enjoyed reading all of those fabulous books in English 9. Lunchtime in Cafeteria A and B was always fun, trying to get there in time so you could get food, especially on Chicken Patty Day.

In the end, we lost Spirit Week even though we were convinced that we were going to win. All in all, freshman year was definitely fun.

Matt Toczek and Jon Dunphy personify freshman spirt.

Sophomore Year

Ahhh, sophomore year at last. This year, we were no longer freshmen. Oh wait, never mind. EVERYONE felt like freshmen when we got thrown into that huge new school building. During sophomore year we watched the old building come down, and with that we watched our old memories wash away. However, as we moved into the new building, we began to build new memories. It wasn't just all about the switch into the new school; we also had to take the MCAS and this year it really mattered. This is also the year that most of us got our permits and class rings.

2010's Color Day banner was truly memorable.

Junior Year

Only two months into the school year, the junior class triumphed over the senior class, winning the Powderpuff at Homecoming, thus becoming the first Junior class to win since 2006. Encouraged by this victory, the Junior class unveiled an unknown confidence for their thriving success. In addition to beating the Seniors in Powderpuff, the Junior class president, Joel McAuliffe, beat out both of the Senior class candidates, gaining the title of Mr. CCHS for the remainder of the year. Neck and neck with the senior class for the 2009 school year, the junior class couldn't wait for their senior year.

Senior Year

Senior year; whats not to love? We ruled the school, and after four years of hard work, we get to graduate. What were your favorite times at Comp? We will all miss Spirit Week where we showed the love of 2010! What about class competitions or sporting events that made our adrenaline rush? The class of 2010 knows what spirit is! We've rocked the school since 2006 with strong athletes, brilliant students, talented actors, actresses and musicians, and faces of the future; we will take all of these great memories with us, as we walk out with our heads held high in June. Through the good and the bad we've made it to the end. It's time to enter the world as young adults and becomethedoctors,lawyers,teachers, and other professionals we've dreamed of being. We are the future and past. We are the class of 2010!

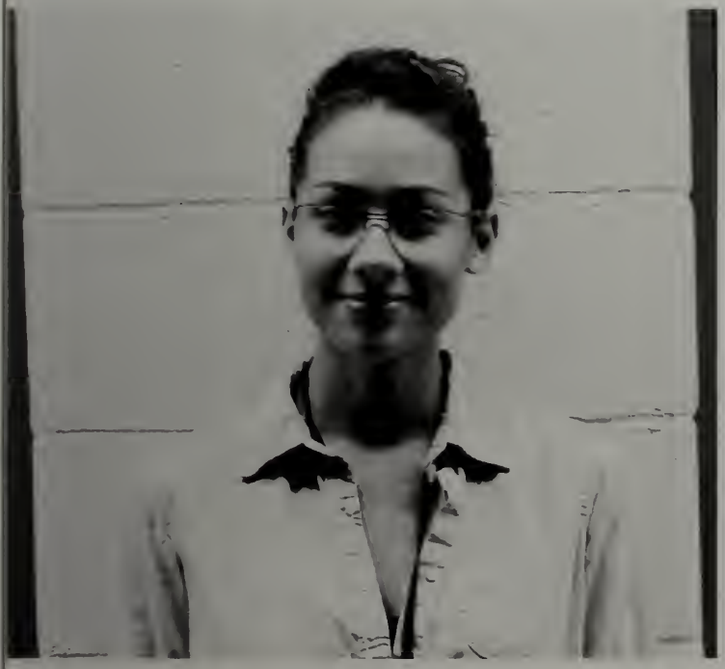
Military

About 500 people die every day while serving our country. We all should be grateful for the many freedoms that we have. Men and women serving in the military help to secure our freedoms. The children of these men and women face hardships that most teenagers do not have to deal with. Some must move to different locations every three years. They know how it feels when their parents cannot attend a recital, game, or school activity. Many seniors at Comp are planning to join the military as well. They will serve our country and exhibit true Comp pride.



Above : Anthony Pedraza is joining the Air Force so he can pay for college.

Nathan Hedges plans to follow in his uncle's footsteps and join the Air Force when he graduates.

Above: Mr. Castonguay is not only a guidance counselor, he is also on active duty in the Army.

Left: Monique Douglass' dad has been serving in the Marines for 10 years. Before they came to Chicopee , Mr. Douglass was stationed in Michigan.

Victoria Kleszczynski looks forward to helping you at Walgreens.

Starr Bargalla and Shallisa Vasquez goof around at Price Rite.

Working Hard for the Money

Students at Comp don't just work hard in class, at sports and in after-school programs. Many students also work at part time jobs after school and on the weekends. Considering how much we have to pay for car insurance and gas, we can all use the money. Colts work in restaurants, stores and even amusment parks. Most students make minimum wage. However, with the recession in full swing students feel fortunate to have jobs.

Victoria Celetti, Jackie Purcell, Marissa Tinnemeyer, and Deanna Rousseau serve ice cream at Rogers in Chicopee.

You're Never Fully

"It is important for my students to experience and to understand many aspects of diversity. Having the students with special needs visit my classroom gives my students pause to think about their blessings which they take for granted."
-Mr. Bellefeuille

Dressed Without a Smile

People often forget about the hardest working students in the school, the special needs students. These bright students are always seen with happy smiling faces. In school they learn valuable skills that most people take for granted. They learn how to do laundry, write, cook, and perform other necessary skills that we use nearly every day. Many of the students also compete in the Special Olympics each year. They enjoy life despite their disabilities and hardships. The special needs students inspire other students to enjoy life, no matter how hard it gets. Remember, you're never fully dressed without a smile!

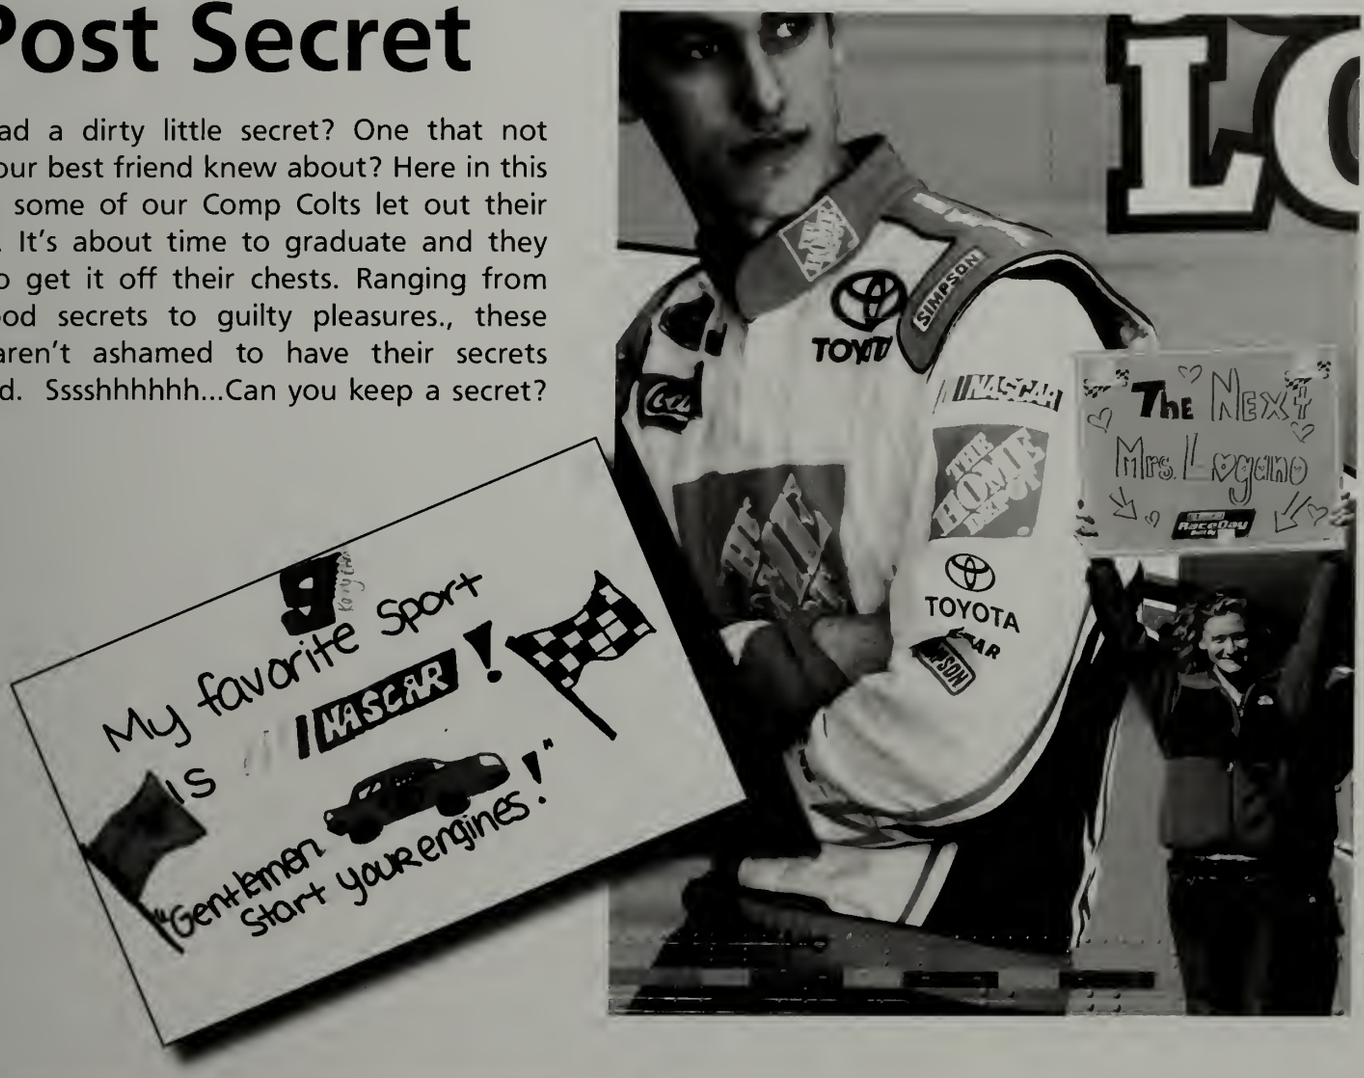
Post Secret

Ever had a dirty little secret? One that not even your best friend knew about? Here in this section some of our Comp Colts let out their secrets. It's about time to graduate and they have to get it off their chests. Ranging from childhood secrets to guilty pleasures., these Colts aren't ashamed to have their secrets exposed. Sssshhhhhh...Can you keep a secret?

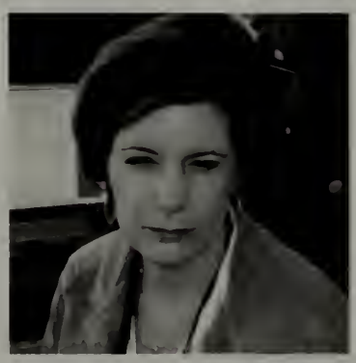


"I don't like when students don't do their homework. LAZY, LAZY, LAZY!"

-Mrs. Breen

"The biggest thing is when they talk when I'm trying to talk."

-Mr. Szydlo



"One of the things that bothers me the most is when students text in class."

-Ms. Morrison

Ms. Parzych asks Sabrina Gray to put on her ID, but she does not have it. Looks like someone needs to be given a temporary ID.

Dr. Chelte scolds Ashley Assarian, Melissa Asselin, and Kelsey Comtois and tells them to go right back up those "up" stairs and to find a "down" staircase.

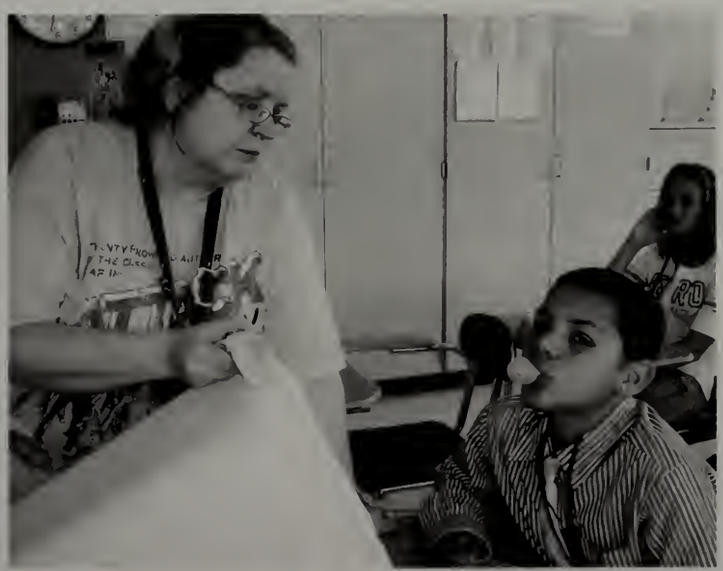
Getting Away With It!

We all know what makes our teachers mad, but why do we do it? Because we know that FOR THE MOST PART, we can get away with it. Some teachers despise it when we chew gum, don't wear our IDs, go up the "down" stairs, down the "up" stairs, text in class, and even when we wear flip-flops. But hey, didn't they used to do stuff like that when they were kids?

"I really hate flip-flops. They are like Crocs without the tops. They're also a BIG fashion no-no!"
-Mrs. Fennessey

Mr. Bellefeuille, the "flip-flop cop", flips out about these students' flip-flops.

Ms. Karol is completely oblivious to the fact that this student is texting behind their purse.



Ms. Freisberg really wants her student, Joshua Stewart-Morin, to throw away his gum ASAP.

"You did what this weekend.. ?!"

Right: Angie Reyes, Kyle Lavallee and Shallisa Vasquez: "See No Evil, Hear No Evil and Speak No Evil."

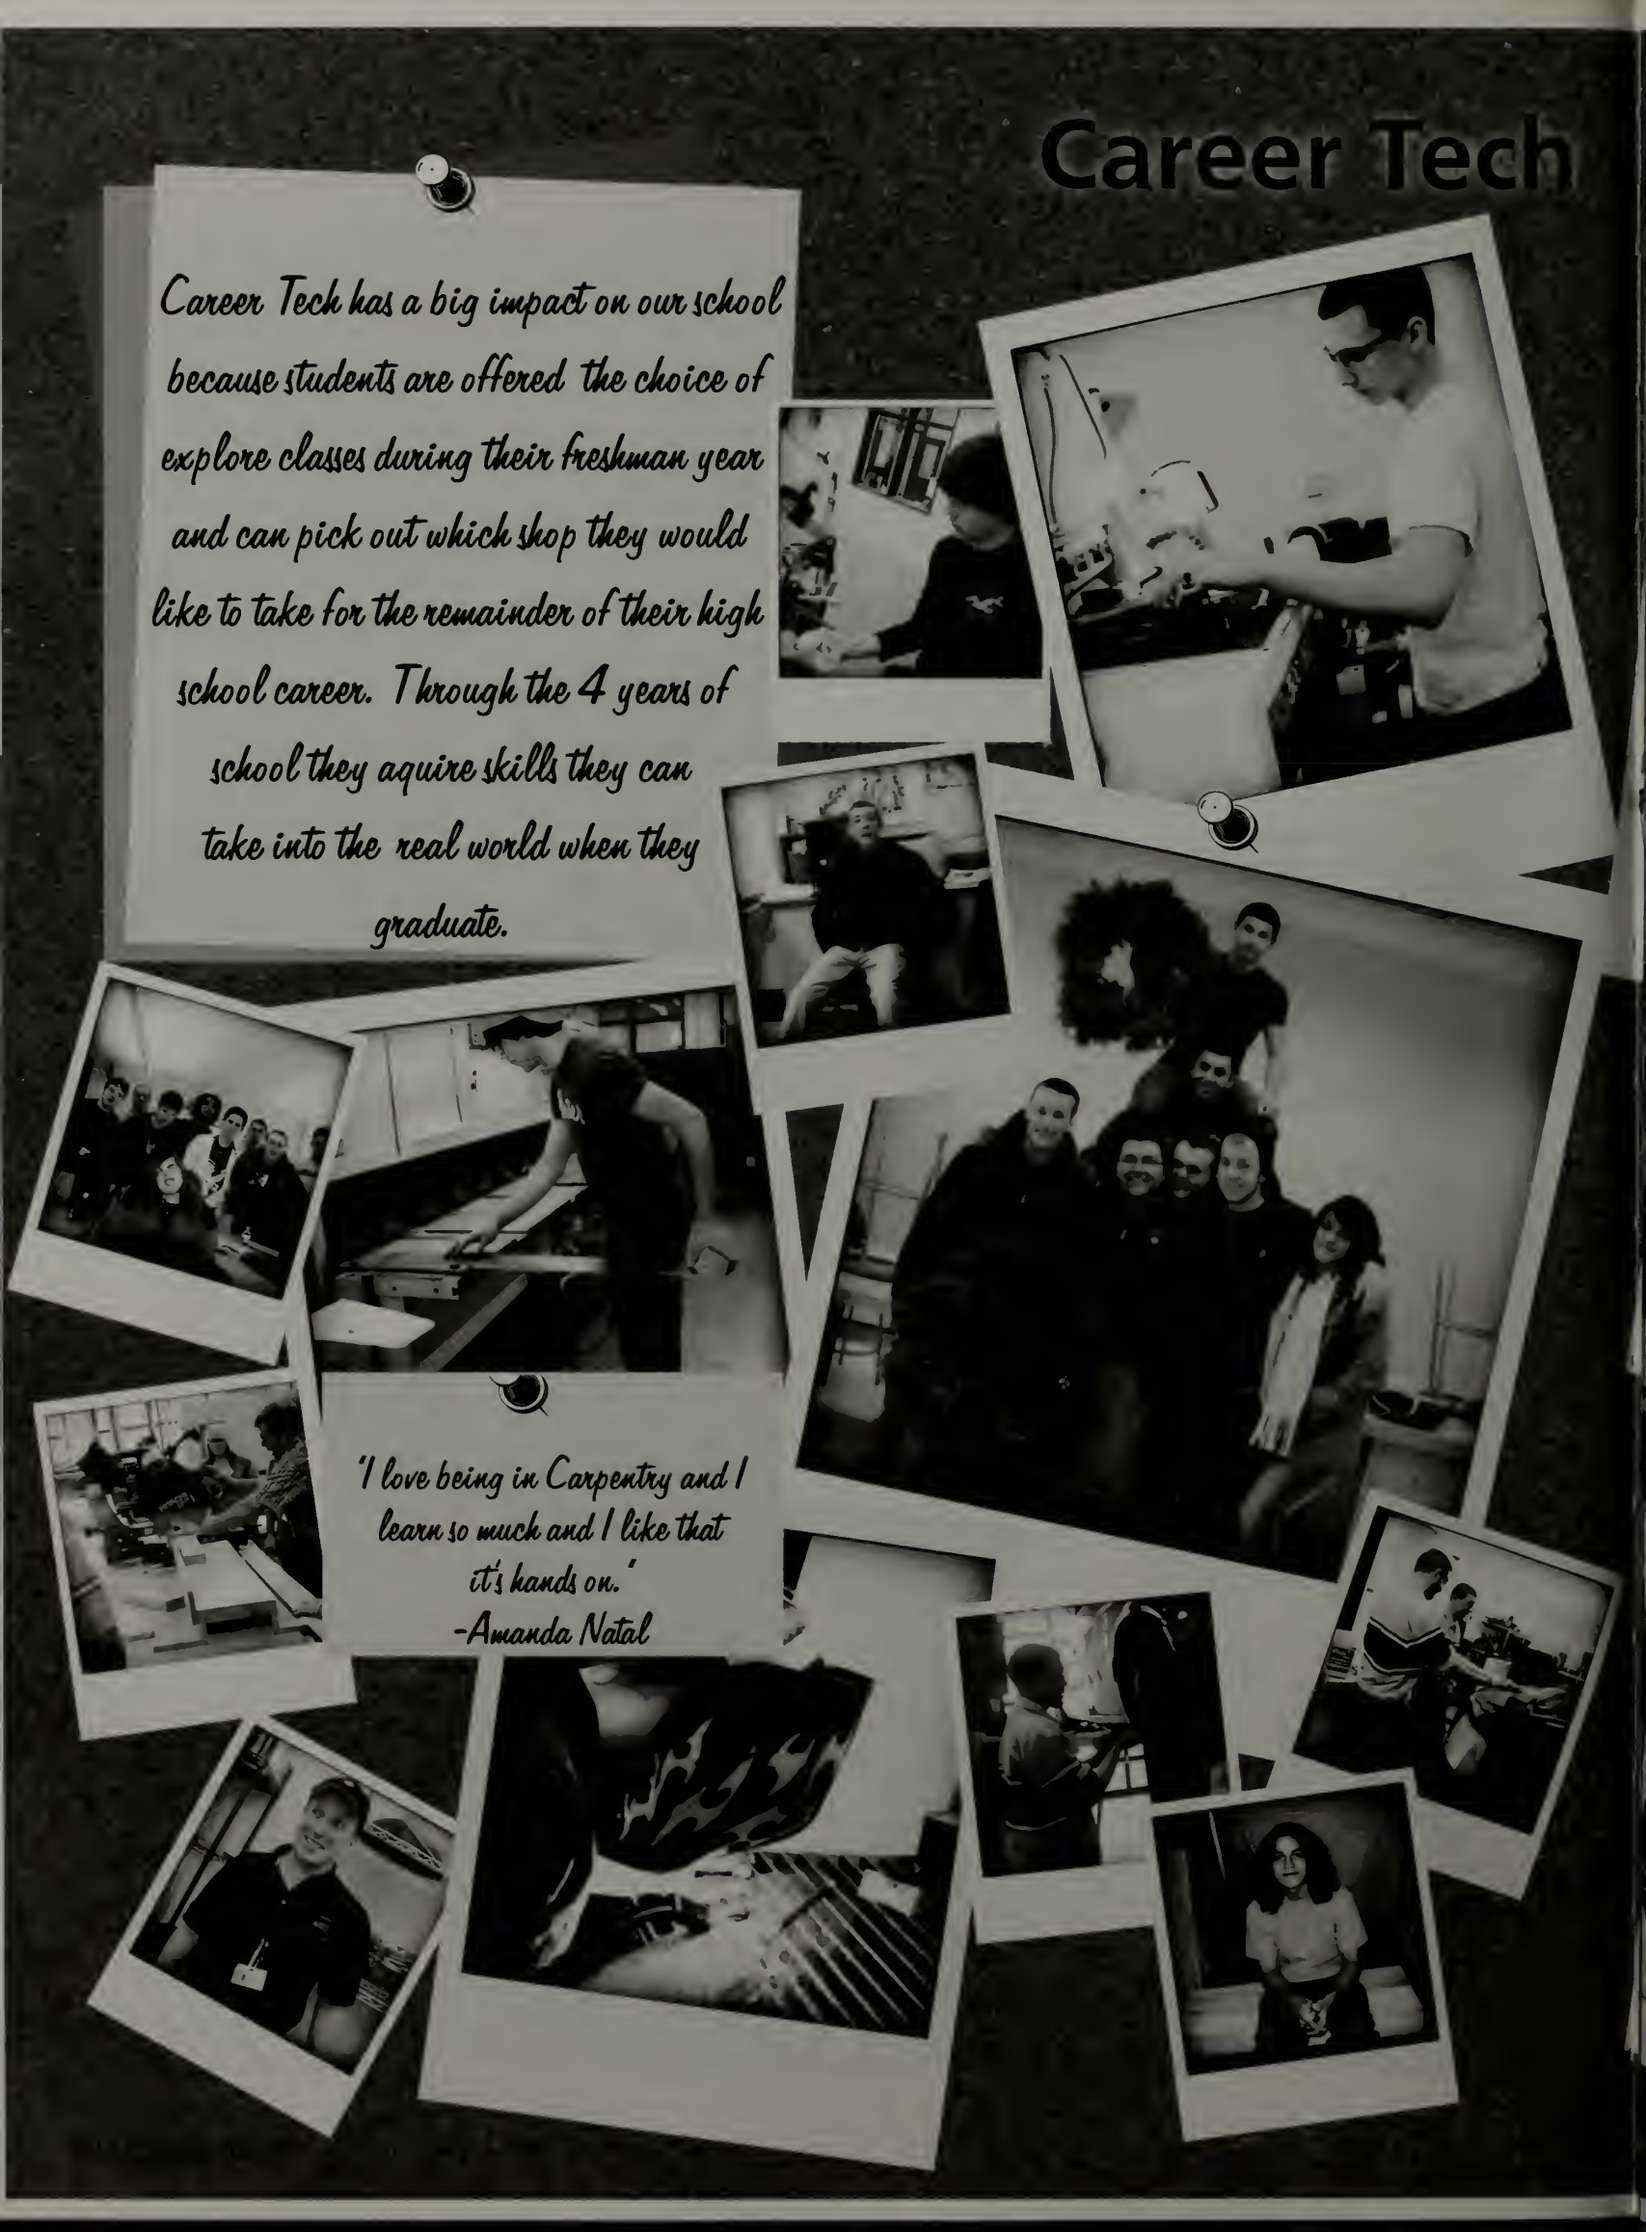
Career Tech

Career Tech has a big impact on our school because students are offered the choice of explore classes during their freshman year and can pick out which shop they would like to take for the remainder of their high school career. Through the 4 years of school they aquire skills they can take into the real world when they graduate.



"I love being in Carpentry and I learn so much and I like that it's hands on."
-Amanda Natal

"I like CISCO because it's a change from the academic atmosphere."

MACHINE TOOL TECH

In Machine Shop, students learn how to assemble and manufacture parts from blueprints. Students also learn to fabricate products from raw materials. The machine tool technology class teaches students how the technology they use in class can be applied to the machine tool industry. The teachers prepare students for work that they may choose to do after they graduate from Chicopee Comprehensive.

Kyle Raymond works on drilling a piece of metal with this intricate machine.

Nick Plasse works with this large machine in machine shop.

Edward Liaszenik waits for the machine to finish doing its job.

METAL FABRICATION & WELDING

In Metal Fabrication, students learn to weld together and fabricate metal pieces into products. Metal Fabrication and Welding class teaches students how to properly and safely use welding and cutting machines. This class prepares students for a trade that they will be able to pursue after they graduate from Chicopee Comprehensive.

Jonathan Caskey-Medina operates a 90 ton pressbreak to fabricate a u-shaped strap.

Caleb Duval sets up parts for welding.

Tyler Houle lets the sparks fly while in the shop.

Ryan Dansereau welds together angle blocks.

Senior Shana Desrochers checks the engine of a truck in the shop. She says she plans on persuing a career in automotive technoiogy after high school.

AUTOMOTIVE TECHNOLOGY

Students who plan on working with cars in the future benefit from the discipline and education offered at Comp's auto shop. The students work hands-on with real cars and technology to develop their knowledge of the craft.

Mike Moran shows how the technology is applied in his shop.

The boys of auto-tech show off their best side!

Chris Descoteaux demonstrates how to change a tire.

CULINARY ARTS

Students in culinary learn all that is necessary in the food preparation and service industry. They measure, mix, and bake throughout the day to prepare delicious meals. They even show off their skills by running Compaccino's.

"Culinary is a great way to end the day!" – John Paboojian

CARPENTRY

Carpentry shop students do a lot of work for Chicopee Comp. This year they plan to help horticulture make a deck for the new courtyard outside the cafeteria. In addition, the shop built the set for Little Shop of Horrors, the 2010 Drama Club production.

Mr. Archambault teaches his students how to make a knick-knack shelf.

Carpentry Class members Nathaniel Clayton, Matthew Zajchowski, Amanda Natal, Michael Rouleau, Jordan Gladu, and Alex Morneau.

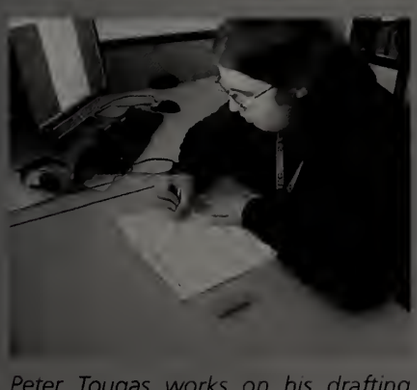
DRAFTING

Ever wonder how buildings and landscapes are designed? Ask the drafting students because they do it all day long! They work with computer programs and design layouts of their own. They helped put together the plan for the courtyard outside of the cafeteria.

Kevin Grant is excited to work on his house designs.

Brett Russell measures the angles he needs to build for a house.



Peter Tougas works on his drafting definitions.

Chris Sawicki says, "There is definitely a lot of math involved, a lot of computer programming- but I think this class is fun!"

"When I graduate I would like to proceed in the drafting career," says Shinny Santiago.

Michael Reniewicz drinks one of the many refreshments available at the school store.

Roy Syriac and Jenn Hunter learn how to use the register for the school store.

BUSINESS

The business classes help students who wish to pursue a future in business. The classes offered include marketing and accounting. Many of the business students are involved in running Colts Corner, the school store, during lunch and after school.

Students browse at the school store.

Mrs. Gil instructs the marketing classes.

HORTICULTURE

This class allows students to work hands on in a variety of horticulture fields. No matter what aspect of the coursework they enjoy, when they graduate they are prepared to work in a variety of places. Some students even plan on owning a landscaping business upon graduation.

Nate Correa works on a project outside the school.

Tyler Cienciwa, MIchael Gendreau and Josh Bruso visit Mr. Widelo.

Evelyn Gonzalez makes a wreath for the holidays.

ELECTRICAL

The electricity program enables students to successfully master the competencies addressed by all aspects of the industry, including working with electricity in a safe and professional manner. Students who successfully complete the program are able to be employed in the industry or continue with their post-secondary studies. The program covers installation and maintenance of equipment for light, heat, and power with emphasis on construction, motor controls and programmable logic controllers. The integrated curricula focus on mathematical and scientific principles to develop a thorough understanding of electrical circuits and theories. Students perform laboratory-type experiments to help them understand the operating characteristics of the circuits in use. Learned wiring methods are used to install actual circuits for residential and commercial applications within the school and selected work within the school district.

Here is a simple example of what the electrical will be doing out in the field.

CISCO NETWORKING

The CISCO networking academy is a program that provides work ranging from basic to advanced concepts in business network management. Working in a lab setting with 20 computers and multiple routers and switches students configure and connect routers and create a stable networking scheme for a real life situation. This course does not require any prior knowledge of computers but just a basic knowledge of windows OS. This program uses the same college level Cisco Networking Academy curriculum and once completed will certify students in Cisco Certified Networking Associate Exam (CCNA) and PC Repair Certificates upon completion of the course.

Above: The networking class, which is taught by Mr. Ziemba and takes place in this room, where the students create a WAN connection model (one you would find in big companies for multiple servers and computers).

Kim Abad, libero, has played four years varsity.

Amanda Gay, a four year player, serves the ball.

Cindy Zheng, a four year player, gets ready for the serve.

Eliza Berneche, a four year player, warms up her spiking.

Victoria Podsiadlo has played volleyball for two years.

Jessica Dzwonkoski has played volleyball for three years.

The girls volleyball team made a big mark this year. The team beat Agawam, Minnechaug, East Longmeadow, and Ludlow, keeping all of these teams out of the tournament. "Best girls volleyball team in the program's history," says Coach Dobson. The season ended in Longmeadow at the semi-finals. They had a good run, losing in four games. It was a back and forth match that could have gone either way at any time. The girls have nothing to hang their heads about. They had a very successful year, and for the seniors, a very successful career. The senior girls ended their high school career with a record with 64 wins and 17 losses, made three Western Mass Semifinal appearances and won two divisional championships. "There was no one player that stood out. Everyone had an important role to play on the team," remarked Coach Dobson. Moments he will never forget: the never-ending Eliza Berneche and Amanda Gay comedy routine "In The Liter Box," participating in a dance video at the Hall of Fame Tournament, and being beaten by Erin Sweeney in a suicide race (he still thinks he won).

Girls Basketball

The girls basketball team underwent changes this year-from a new coach to a totally different style of basketball. Leading up to the season everyone was overflowing with excitment knowing that they had a great season ahead of them. The Colts started their season off a little shaky, still getting used to all the new offenses and defenses. They were given a tough schedule to start the sesason. The first game was against Lee and then they had a nine day break until the home opener against Ludlow. "Everyone came fired up for the game against Ludlow because we have been practicing for a while and just wanted to get out and play," said senior captain Erin Sweeney. This was the first year the girls team has started getting credit for their basketball skills. The school showed full support, with more fans attending than ever before. The girls team beat their rival Chicopee High by double digits both times they played them. "I could not ask for a better group of girls to work with. They are the toughest group of girls I have ever met and they hate to lose," said Coach Hambley. Comp girls basketball team had heart and came ready to work every practice even though some games did not go as they expected. The Comp Colts girls basketball team, or the Chicopee Gnats as the coaches refer to them, is a very scrappy and aggressive team. It is a group that will never be forgotten.

Debate Team

The Chicopee Comprehensive High School Debate team engages in policy debate in the Connecticut Valley Debate League. Team members attend weekly meetings, study the topic for the season, and work in pairs to go up against teams from other area schools. This year students debated about whether the US government should increase social services for those living in poverty.

Band

Chicopee Comprehensive's marching band performs at most football games, pep rallies and parades. Members are responsible for taking care of their instruments and uniforms. In this picture the CCHS band performs during half time at the Sword Game. Senior Sara Mitchell leads the band during the 2009-2010 school year. Mr. Raymond is the director of our band.

As Schools Match Wits

As School Match Wits has aired on Channel 22 for over forty years. High schools from around Massachusetts compete for the title by correctly answering categories on school curriculum and trivia. The teams consist of four members and an alternate; this year's team is Zach Dupont, Josh Clark, Robert Niemiec, and Dan Bartley. Once a team wins consecutively three times, they move onto the playoffs held in the spring. This year's team beat Glastonbury High School and qualified for the playoffs.

Future Business Leaders of America

The Future Business Leaders of America, also known as the Business Club, are entrepreneurs who want to pursue careers in business. Mrs. Gil, the director of the club, prepares students for the "real world". Students go to conferences, meet business owners and participate in competitions. The Business Club get hands-on training by running the Colts Corner, our school store.

Project Peace

Project peace is involved with the "green" movement at Chicopee Comprehensive High School. Ms. Crowther is the advisor of the Project Peace. They help bring recycling and other inovative green ideas to the school. The club is active in Peace Jams which take place at Elms College. Members teach other schools how to become more green in and around their community. Members also help in river clean ups and are responsible for the milk carton recycling program here at Comp.

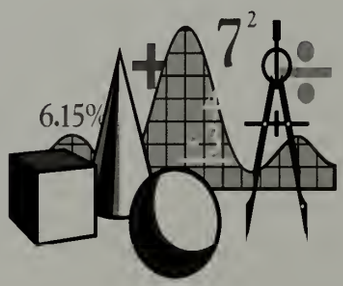
Class of 2013

President Enmanuel Guzman, Vice President Kyle Soja, Secretary Daniel Mundo, Treasurer Anna Siroklin, and Advisors Mr. Paquette, and Mr. Lamothe.

Math Club

Math Club meets to help students better understand mathematics. Mr. Szydlo helps students understand the concepts instead of simply making sure they get the right answers. Math Club has provednto be helpful to students who are struggling in their courses, as well as with the math MCAS.



Weight Training

The weight training "club" really isn't a team. It's more of an informal open gym-type program. Any student can show up and work out whenever they want. These sessions allow students to stay fit while using our new state of the art facilities. Mr. Rege supervises the training.

Pep Club

Pep Club, lead by Ms. Hernandez, brings a variety of students who love music and dancing together. The club learns different types of Latin dances which they perform to authentic music. This club is a great opportunity for students who want to learn new dances and meet new people.

Key Club

Chicopee Comp's Key Club is responsible for organizing communtiy service activities. Key Club memebers volunteer at spaghetti dinners, Fun in Februrary, and other community projects. This year, along with Project Peace, the Key Club got involved with Aeropostale's Teen for Jeans drive. This drive collected jeans for local shelters. Mrs. Demo leads the group to their success.

Skills USA

SkillsUSA is a national organization serving more than 264,500 high school and college students and professional members enrolled in training programs in technical, skilled, and service occupations, including health occupations. Students learn leadership abilities, community service, fundraising and competition. Students get the chance to compete at local, state, and national levels. Ms. Coleman and Mr. Racine lead the Skills USA students.

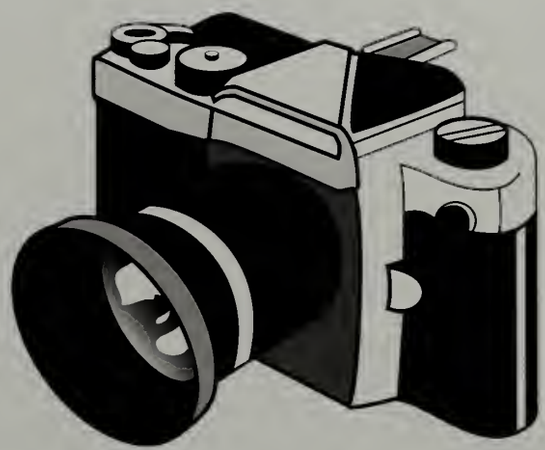
Drama Club

This year Drama Club put on a production of The Little Shop of Horrors. Students and staff practice after school to make this musical the success that it was. In total fourteen actors and actresses and six crew members gave their time to make this show one of the best here at Chicopee Comp. Ms. Boyer and Ms. Friesberg helped direct the play along with Mr. Mashia and Ms. Boroweic who lent their musical talents.

Dezmin Perez speaks to Audrey 2 the plant in The Little Shop of Horrors.

Photography Club

The photography club here at Chicopee Comprehensive teaches students how to use different types of cameras and photo editing programs. Students take pictures in a variety of settings to show what they have learned. Chicopee Comp's brand new equipment makes this club fun and inviting. Ms. Kemp, the advisor, also works with students at Chicopee High.



Electrathon

Chicopee Comprehensive
Electrathon Team

Electrathon is a type of electric marathon in which the winner is determined by distance traveled in a certain time with a given amount of battery power. An electrathon car is a single person, lightweight, aerodynamic, high efficiency electric vehicle with three or four wheels of 16" diameter or larger. They must meet specific design and safety rules. They are powered by deep cycle lead acid battery packs not exceeding 64 pounds. This club is helps make people aware of alternative electric cars rather than regular vehicles. Mr. Clark along with Mr. Gassanola help lead this club to their success.

Reach

REACH stands for Resources for Enrichment and Advancement in Chicopee. The REACH program at Chicopee Comprehensive High School is designed to challenge academically advanced students. These students are members of Future Problem Solving teams that use critical and creative thinking skills to work through a variety of problem-solving activities including community projects. It involves lots of interesting discussion and the opportunity to compete with teams of students throughout the state and if successful, throughout the world.The club is lead by Ms. Gomes.

Renaissance Club

The Renaissance Program was created to reward students who are on the honor roll, or who have perfect attendance during one term of the school year. The cards distributed by the club allow students to receive discounts at local businesses and to attend sporting events for free. The Renaissance program also sponsors the Good Samaritan of the week program which rewards students who are nominated by their teachers for their behavior or good deeds.

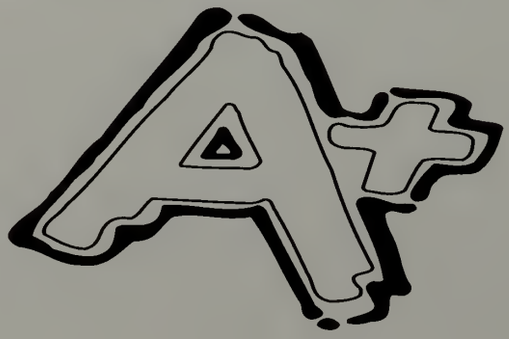
Composition

Students who participate in the once yearly art and literacy magazine production are among the most creative in the building. This project allows students to desplay their true talents in the arts and in writing. The club is lead by Mr. Archambault.

Academic Decathalon

Academic Decathalon is an academic competition consisting of teams of 9 students who attempt to score the most points on a series of 10 test events. The 10 academic events include an unprepared speech, an interview, a written essay, music, math, science, economics, literature, fine arts, and the Super Quiz is the last event. The Super Quiz is a team attempting to answer the most questions correctly regarding the Super Quiz topic. Students meet weekly to study material and to prepare for the competition. Students who participate in academic dedcathalon are led by Mr. Jendrysik.



Library Aids

Library Aids are students who work at the front desk in the library during one period during the day. These students put books back in place, assist students, and help with computers. All library aids are required to do book reviews and various assignments throughout the semester. Unlike a study hall, students do recieve credits for being a library aid. Ms. Crowther, our librarian, oversees these students.

SADD

SADD is a diverse group of students that try to promote healthy lifestyles by making good decisions. Students who join SADD learn about the dangers of drug and alcohol consumption. SADD sponsors the annual day of silence in which SADD members reenact how a drunk driving accident would affect the high school population.

Student Council

The purpose of Student Council is to allow students to get involved in their school and community. Student Council helps to make school more fun through events like Spirit Week, the Homecoming Dance, and the Mr. CCHS competition. Through these events Student Council has donated to various organizations including Lorraine's Soup Kitchen, Jimmy Stuff the Stocking, Pennies for Patients and Chicopee Emergency Food and Fuel Inc.

Science Club

Chicopee Comp's Science Club meets weekly to discuss everything science related. Mrs. Bruso works with students to complete their homework. The members also complete laboratories and discuss current events in the science world. The new lab equipment has made it possible for the science club to grow.

Political Science Club

The Political Science Club here at Chicopee Comprehensive High School dedicates their time to discuss issues in politics and current events. Members debate government reform and learn that taking an active role in the government makes them responsible citizens. Many memebers of the club hope to become future politicans and make differences in our government. This club is lead by Mr. Jendrysik.

In your hands, you hold Memini 2010, the fruit of blood, sweat, and tears (literally). While you may put this on a bookshelf for the next twenty or thirty years, we want you to know the process in which this book was made.

This book actually started in June 2009, when Ms. Freisberg and Josh Clark started to brainstorm. They eventually threw out the Helevetica font, using people to shape letters for transition pages, and other seemingly good, but actually crazy ideas. When the class first met in September, the theme was the main sticking point with the staff. Ideas thrown out by the staff were pop art themes, newspaper themes, or that good ole' standby font, Helvetica. It was ultimately an underdog, "Memories In the Making" that made it. We decided that scrapbook transition pages, the AHJ Carto Gothic font, and poladroidized photos were going to be our main design elements.

We started the book by editing the Table of Contents and the Class of 2010 retrospective spreads. The editors-in-chief got to work on the dedication and appreciation spreads. The proofs came in, and we would fix our mistakes and send them in to the factory to get printed. The process would repeat itself twelve more times until the entire book was finished.

Throughout the process, we had tremendously dedicated and insightful editors that made the production smooth and painless. Our editors-in-chief Erin Sweeney, Kayla Ingram, and Kirsten Pasterczyk have been incredibly motivated and committed to making sure Memini 2010 was the best yearbook it could be. They spent hours upon hours editing proofs, finding new pictures when there were repeats, correcting grammatical errors, and making sure the overall theme of our book was followed. Our other editors were tremendous as well, whether they were creating layouts, poladroidizing photos, putting advertisements together, or managing subscriptions, they made the jobs of the editors-in-chief and Ms. Freisberg easier. Josh, Jackie, Victor, Gabby, Vicki, Patricia, and Nadine all did an excellent job at their roles and had a heavy hand in making Memini 2010 an outstanding yearbook. Thank you.

Who are we without our advisors, Ms. Denise Freisberg and Mr. Steven Brown. They have dealt with the countless mornings of weekend gossip, red pens that ran out of ink, and the anxiety of not having funds to complete the yearbook. They have been our support system for the entire year. We came to them with wacky ideas that were probably politically incorrect or something that we wanted to try but weren't sure how it would work. Without them, our yearbook would not have been possible. The staff of Memini 2010 would like to thank our editors and advisors and wish them the best of luck in future endeavors, or in the advisors' cases, future books.

The 47th volume of Memini 2010 was produced by the students and staff of room 323 at Chicopee Comprehensive High School in Chicopee, Massachusetts. This book was printed by Herff Jones in Gettysburg, Pennsylvania. The 192-page book was sold to 350 students, faculty, and other important people. The price of our book was $65 until November 14th, when it increased to $85. The book utilizes four-color printing on one signature with black and white used elsewhere. It is printed on 80-lb paper. The body copy is 12 pt. AHJ Carto Gothic, the captions are 10 pt. AHJ Carto Gothic Light Italic, and the titles are 40 pt. AHJ Carto Gothic Bold. Memini 2010 was produced using Adobe InDesign software on Dell Inspiron desktop and Dell laptop computers using Microsoft Windows XP or Vista. All photos were taken by a camera five megapixels or higher and submitted to the staff digitally using e-mail or through memory cards. The cover is full-color litho with gloss lamination with a base material of permacoate.

Our account was serviced by Matt Koziol, our Herff Jones representative, and Barb Hale, our customer service representative. The staff of Memini 2010 would like to thank our advisors once again, and the Chicopee Comprehensive High School administration and staff for printing countless yearbook passes, letting us roam the halls taking aimless photos, and allowing us to pull students out of class during so many first periods.
